Happy New Year 2017

Dear all,

It is the time once again that we create new hopes, resolutions, aspirations and motivation to step into a new year.

Every change of a year is the same as every month, every week, every day and most importantly, every moment. We should always cherish every moment of our lives and fill it with hopes, resolutions, aspirations and be motivated. Being in this state of mind and awareness, is the key to a great successful life.

You will always have fears of some kind, however based on your own past experiences, you have prevailed. We will always prevail as we are beings with the greatest survival instincts, and we always do it in the most innovative way possible.

That's your magic, your personal charm, your aura, your positive mindset and this whole package makes who you are, naturally. Being you is the most important hope, aspiration and motivation that you need to step into 2017 and beyond. Make that resolution to be yourself, and you will be astonished to see that the world sets itself for you and ONLY you.

The economic outlook for 2017, will see a new equilibrium being set. It is a great year for opportunities but that opportunities will be created at the mid and lower range market. You will hear news of a bleak future, but that is not your concern at all, that is just for the news and it affects only the big corporations who have benefited for a long time. In fact, even the news as such will make money.

Take stock of where you are now and set a lifestyle to fit your current state. You will realize a progressed self at the end of the year, provided you maintain that aura of positivity.

We at 7C Life have embarked on our newest journey at our new home. We have set up a beautiful place that is your abode of peace, happiness, joy, tranquillity, solitude and family togetherness. It shall be open for more days during the week. There a much more activities already planned for 2017. Our new home is conveniently located off Jalan Gasing, Petaling Jaya, Malaysia. We have created this abode for you and society, as we want to you to be assured of the hopes of life and what greatness life can bring to you.

Life itself is a blessing, realizing that it is a blessing, is the greatest blessing of all.

Wishing you and your family a Happy New Year, 2017.

With love and blessings,
SwamiGuru Sri Kriyathasa Sekar and the 7C Family.
